MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD:

Yesterday afternoon I was called on by Mr. William Jackson, one of the three members of the so-called "Dulles Survey Group". Mr. Jackson stated that the Group planned to submit its report on 1 December and that they had the data they needed except in the case of our Office of Special Operations. That, in view of the fact that Mr. Allen Dulles was busy as a member of Mr. Dewey's staff, he (Mr. Jackson) and Mr. Robert Blum planned on going into the SO situation in the next few days.

Mr. Jackson stated he and Mr. Blum must both have full access to the functions of SO in order to clean up the job. I said there had never been any objection to this as long as they did not ask to go into "intelligence sources and methods". He said there had obviously been a reluctance to having Mr. Blum go into details. I countered by saying that we had insisted that Mr. Blum clear his desires with the Assistant Director for Special Operations before going into the branches; that since setting up that requirement Mr. Blum had never been around.

Jackson said it was necessary to go into details of operation since the NSC Directive to the Group had frequently used the word"Survey" when it must have been obvious to everyone that they meant "Investigation".

Mr. Jackson brought up the point that the Eberstadt Survey Report would be much less detailed and exact than the Dulles report. I questioned this on the grounds that:

1. The Eberstadt Survey Group were experienced investigators who thoroughly went through all our activities and who cooperated completely with our security restrictions.

2. The Eberstadt Committee spent a great deal more time in their survey although accomplished over a shorter time than that utilized by the Dulles Group.

Mr. Jackson "laughed off" the idea that the Eberstadt Report was of any value and said—"I know several things about that."
